

INTRODUCING THE NEW COLORADO PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE PRACTICE COUNCIL

This is your chance to make a difference in the practice of Public Health Nursing!

WHAT IS THE COLORADO PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE PRACTICE COUNCIL?

The Public Health Nurse Practice Council (PHNPC) is a branch of the Public Health Nursing Association of Colorado (PHNAC). In 2009, PHNAC members voted to incorporate a Public Health Nurse Practice Council into the organization. PHNPC will be a dedicated and knowledgeable group of individuals who will focus solely on practice related issues within the specialty practice of public health nursing.

MISSION OF THE PHNPC:

The mission of the Public Health Nurse Practice Council is to provide a strong and unified statewide representation of public health nursing practice within Colorado and to promote recognition of public health nursing as a specialized profession.

PURPOSE OF PHNPC:

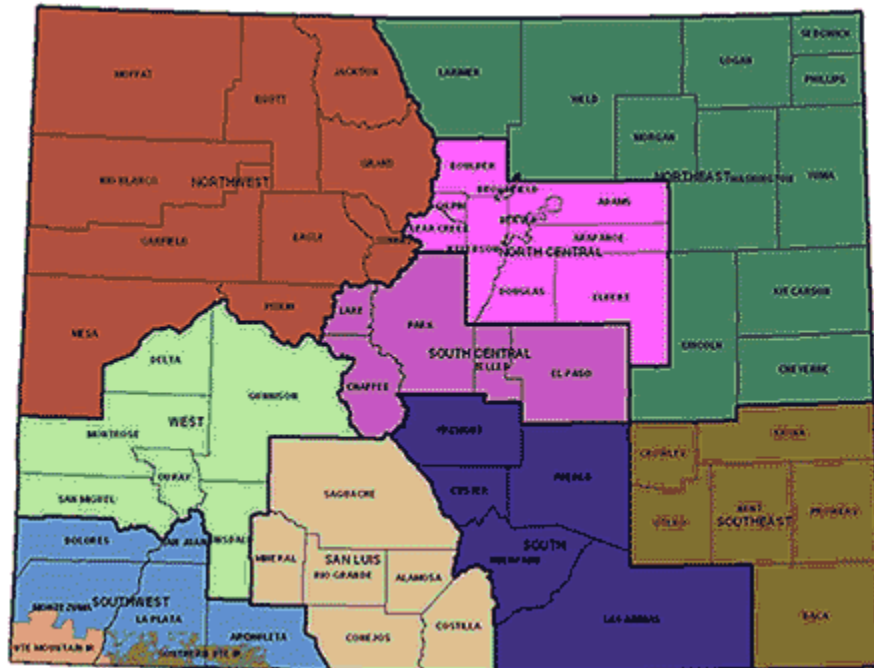

- To strengthen the profession of public health nursing by providing a venue in which public health nursing practice-related issues can be fully vetted.
- To support collaboration and cooperation among public health nurses and other partners within Colorado.
- To partner with and provide recommendations to nursing decision-makers, policy-makers and academic institutions so that they may make informed decisions regarding issues that drive the professional practice of public health nursing.
- To provide opportunities for public health nurses to be more involved with advancing public health nurse practice.

WHO ARE THE COUNCIL MEMBERS?

The Public Health Nurse Practice Council will function as a 15 member council. PHNPC will be comprised of nurses who have first-hand knowledge and experience with local public health. The membership break-down is as follows:

- One public health nurse member from each of the nine "All-Hazards" regions (9) See map below
- One additional nurse member from the North Central Region (due to large population base) (1)
- One nurse member at large (1)

- PHNPC member terms will be for two years, with terms staggered by one year; therefore the initial year, half of the council's term will last for one year
- The Council is guided by the PHNPC chairperson

- Meetings will be held via conference call and in-person
- All PHNPC members must be paying members of the Public Health Nurses Association of Colorado

CORE VALUES OF PHNPC:

PHNPC is guided by the PHNAC core values: respect, responsibility, collaboration, equality, education and integrity, as well as; the Scope and Standards of Public Health Nursing Practice, the 10 Essential Services of Public Health, and the Colorado Nurse Practice Act.

PHNPC will view all issues presented as they are related to the following tenants of Public Health Nursing:

- The “client or “unit of care” is the community and its population.
- All processes of public health nursing include partnering with the community and its representatives.
- Primary prevention including health promotion and health protection strategies are priorities within the practice of public health nursing.
- Public health nurses concentrate on interventions aimed at improving environments to benefit the health of the population.
- Public health nursing practice includes an obligation to actively reach out to all who might benefit from an intervention or service (not wait for individuals or community to come to them).
- The dominant concern and obligation is for the greater good of all of the people or the population as a whole.
- Use of available resources to improve the health of the entire population is utilized with utmost stewardship in mind.
- Public health nurses provide leadership to assure that all of the people have their collective and individual nursing needs met.
